

Jesus in Genesis

The Covenant

Message Summary

As we navigate what it means to follow Jesus in such an uncertain and scary world, we can find hope in God's Word. This Sunday, we're going to see God make a promise to a wandering nomad named Abram. And from that partnership God forms in Genesis 15, we'll discover a God with a relentless desire to share generously with the people he created.

Series Summary

Genesis. It means 'beginning.' Genesis is all about beginnings: the beginning of the world, the beginning of human civilization, the beginning of evil in the world, and the beginning of hope. It is also the promise of new beginnings. One man would receive a covenant. Another would load a boat up with animals. The stories can seem so disconnected and unique while actually they tell the story of a larger narrative that all points to Jesus and is all connected by Christ. Join us for our deep dive into the book of Genesis as we spend 8 weeks seeing how this book of beginnings points to new beginnings in Christ and walk away realizing how very practical and life giving the book of "beginnings" can be.

1.) We were made to be covenant partners with the God of the universe.

Genesis 15:1-21 / Jeremiah 34:17-18 / Luke 22:19-20

2.) We no longer need to fear the consequences of our failures. Jesus took them on so that we might enjoy the blessings and joy of being participants in God's Kingdom.
